This phase manages the release of the final products to the outside world. It includes all activities associated with assembling and releasing a range of static and dynamic products via a range of channels. These activities support users to access and use the outputs released.

This phase is broken down into the following sub-processes:

- Define Maintenance Agreement
- Publish SDMX Artefacts in Production
- Publish Maintenance Information
- Project Ends & Operationalise Maintenance Agreement
- Provide Support